1 Acumen Fund Advisory Services India Pvt. Ltd.	104 leaders (18 from Pakistan and 22 from India)	All Causes	All Beneficiaries	India, Pakistan	Non-Financial: Others		24 Jan 2019	Acumen introduced 104 extraordinary leaders—the 2019 Acumen Fellows. They are builders with the skills and character who dare to embrace the difficult journey of social change. This year's Fellows include leaders from across East Africa, India, Pakistan, and—our two new regions—Colombia and West Africa. Our largest and most diverse cohort thus far, this group is made up of 50% women and includes extraordinary individuals from more than 13 countries and 50 cities across the world. From promoting rural women's economic empowerment in Ghana to using sports as a means to bring together divided communities across Latin America, the 2019 Fellows are tackling the greatest challenges facing their communities. Over the course of the year, the Fellows will come together to learn with – and from – each other. As a deeply bonded cohort, they will engage with a curriculum that is based on practical skills and character, geared towards action and grounded in the values of moral leadership.

106	The George Institute for Global Health, McGill University, University of Sydney, University of Toronto	CanKids	Health	People with Medical Needs	India	Non-Financial: Impact Measurement		20 Apr 2019	Researchers from Australia's McGill University, University of Sydney, University of Toronto and George Institute for Global Health, in partnership with CanKids, an NGO, interviewed 11 families of children being treated for cancer at AIIMS and Safdarjung Hospital. The research revealed that in cancer treatment, even the poorest of the families spend over Rs 50,000 towards treatment of their wards at public hospitals where consultation, surgery and key medicines are provided for free. The researchers have called for hospital service providers to review their policies, procedures and service agreements to limit the financial burden imposed on families by encompassing a reasonable charge, consider families' cost in the design of services, and ensure that provisions are in place to lower the economic burden.
